ESA Powers Up: Hannah Bailey Lighting Specialist

We are thrilled to announce that Hannah Bailey has joined ESA as a Lighting Specialist, supporting customers across all our regions.

Hannah brings a decade of industry experience from J. Collins Associates, where she developed a solid foundation in lighting products, manufacturer relationships, and distributor support. Her background has given her a comprehensive understanding of the industry from the inside out, making her exceptionally well-prepared to serve ESA's customers.

In her new role as Lighting Specialist, Hannah will use her deep product knowledge and customer-focused approach to build strong relationships and deliver tailored lighting solutions to ESA's customers nationwide.

Outside of work, Hannah is a devoted wife and mother of three daughters. She and her husband are high school sweethearts, and when they're not cheering on their youngest two at the softball fields, you can find the family hiking, camping, or tending to their vegetable garden.

Please join us in welcoming Hannah to the ESA team. We are excited to have her expertise and enthusiasm on board and look forward to the relationships she will build with our customers!

Warm Regards,

Chris Templeton
